

6: Inmate TA

01

02 E- What did you make of Makeright project?

03 T - Brilliant course. Is using the I mean I can't really call knowing how to steal from people a skill, could I?

04 E- It's kind of a skill....

05 T- (laughs) Well, is using the not so good skills of inmates being able to steal say to give something to the community. For charity. To Sue Ryder. I never met her but sure she is a very nice lady.

06 Brilliant course.

07 E- So what about you personally, doing this course?

08 T-Well... let me try. I find a similar thing that I may have done, maybe like carpentry? Is therapeutic.

09 E- T, we are not selling the project now, it's just for us to understand... did it have an effect?

10 T - Probably. I have never been pickpocketed miss, ever. Listening to others made me more aware. Maybe more weary, suspicious. So when I am in the tube next I can be more aware. Also I can help out other people. So if I see someone trying to steal I can defend them too.

11 E- How would you describe empathy?

12 T- ... Yes. It's being able to relate to someone's problems. People often got these confused with sympathy, they are quite similar. Sympathy is when you feel and empathy when you relate.

13 E- Maybe is the other way around? Oh well, lets carry on! So does it relate to this then?

14 T- Yes, I can understand that. Oh my god I lost everything. My sister was burgled, she was crying, she was scared, it was bad.

15 Maybe subconsciously? But I won't realise until I'm in that situation, until the right moment.
